What is the Project?

The Nevada County Transportation Commission (NCTC) and the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) are hosting a public workshop to discuss the proposed development of a new interchange connection with State Route 49, south of McKnight Way. The proposed project would improve east-west connectivity in the southern portion of Grass Valley, and is included in the Transportation Element of the City of Grass Valley General Plan. Caltrans and NCTC are initiating studies to assess potential impacts to neighboring communities as well as the natural environment.

A multidisciplinary Project Development Team which includes representatives from Caltrans, NCTC, the City of Grass Valley, Nevada County, members of the engineering and environmental consultant team, and development applicants has been assembled to help identify issues and constraints relative to the proposed interchange and connector routes.

What is the Workshop Objective?

This is the first in a series of public workshops. The workshop's objective is to provide the public the opportunity to ask questions, provide input, and share concerns with the Project Development Team. Residents and businesses near the project area are strongly encouraged to attend this public workshop.

What is the Current Status of the Project?

The Project Development Team is in the process of evaluating preliminary alternative locations for the Crestview Smith interchange at State Route 49 and preliminary alignments for the connections to La Barr Meadows Road and Allison Ranch Road.
